THE MEDICAL COLLEGE OF PENNSYLVANIA

IATRIAN

Whatever be the detail with which you cram your students, the chance of their meeting in after-life exactly that detail is almost infinitesimal; and if they do meet it, they will probably have forgotten what you taught them about it. The really useful training yields a comprehension of a few general principles with a thorough grounding in the way they apply to a variety of concrete details. In subsequent practice the students will have forgotten your particular details; but they will remember by an unconscious common sense how to apply principles to immediate circumstances.

KEEPING THINGS WHOLE

In a field
I am the absence
of field.
This is always the case.
Wherever I am
I am what is missing.

When I walk
I part the air
and always
the air moves in
to fill the spaces
where my body's been.

We all have reasons
for moving.
I move
to keep things whole.

With Love

Oh, I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling
mirth
Of sun-split clouds . . .

For life is to be enjoyed . . .

High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring
there,
I've chased the shouting wind along
Up, up the long delirious burning blue
I've topped the windswept heights with easy grace
And, with silent, lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space.

“The most beautiful and most profound emotion we can experience is the sensation of the mystical. It is the sower of all true science. He to whom this emotion is a stranger, who can no longer wonder and stand rapt in awe, is as good as dead. To know what is impenetrable to us really exists, manifesting itself as the highest wisdom and the most radiant beauty which our dull faculties can comprehend only in the most primitive form — this knowledge, this feeling is at the centre of all true religiousness.

The cosmic religious experience is the strongest and oldest mainspring of scientific research. My religion consists of a humble admiration of the illimitable superior spirit who reveals himself in the slight details we are able to perceive with our frail and feeble minds. That deeply emotional conviction of the presence of a superior reasoning power, which is revealed in the incomprehensible universe, forms my idea of God.”

FROM MAXIMS AND REFLECTIONS

The future holds hidden
Blessings and sorrows
In rows of tomorrows —
Undaunted, unbidden
We keep pressing forward

Heavy and far
Of awe a curtain
Star beyond star
Above. And certain
The graves below.

But voices we hallow
Of masters preceding
Invoke our heeding;
Let never lie fallow
The forces of good.

We gather forever
In infinite calm
The laurel, the palm
For lives of endeavor
And bid you, have hope.

"Lethal, this becoming and being a doctor! Denying hope and fear, ritualized defenses pulled up around ears like turtlenecks, the doctors, to survive, had become machines . . . I tell . . . how ashamed I am for turning into a sarcastic bastard who calls the old ones gomers, how . . . I'd ridiculed them for their weaknesses, for throwing up their suffering in my face, for scaring me, for forcing me to do disgusting things to take care of them. I tell . . . how I want to live compassionately, with the idea of death clearly in sight . . . THE HOME STRETCH.*

Lower Please!

But how come the water doesn't come OUT?

... and over here you can see that the pt. is FOS.

I thought it was a reflex hammer with a light.

Give me that copy of ACTA Scandinavica!

Say Ahhhh ...
